Fabrics

It is not singular that decorators have long relied upon this collection of textiles to create the charming interiors which have made their efforts so outstanding in America.

The many notable fabrics in this collection have been procured from the world's finest sources and chosen with unerring discrimination.

Our cordial invitation to the trade to view fabrics of distinction in our showrooms is reiterated now in the full knowledge that much will be found that is superbly new and eminently practical.

DUPONT RAYON

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

TO INTERIOR ARCHITECTS:

If, by chance, Toile de Rae is a stranger to you, may we have the pleasure of showing its fine performance in any one of hundreds of rooms at the Waldorf Astoria. All of the original drapes are still hanging—luxuriously fresh. * * Du Pont Rayon yarn combined with cotton has produced an entirely new and valuable genre of decorative fabrics. Toile de Rae has rich, low lustre—superb body—crisp drape—fast color—plus the sturdy virtue of cotton.

ETERNIT TIMBERTEX

Architects Acclaim This Shingle Triumph in Asbestos Cement. . . . Textured Like Cypress Wood

If you are partial to the texture of "weathered cypress," you will find in this asbestos-cement shingle a truly faithful reproduction.

The "wood" colors are produced by pure mineral oxides and are an integral part of each shingle.

The Eternit Timbertex Shingles are made to endure. Time and fire-defying Portland cement and asbestos fibres have been combined by an ingenious building-up process which insures an even distribution of the reinforcing fibres, resulting in remarkable strength and resiliency.

You will find that no detail has been overlooked to make Eternit Timbertex Shingles meet every architectural need.
